building with a tile roof approximately 12 x 30 feet in size and three or four pyramidal tents were on the side of a hill about 50 yards from the radar trailer. Neither the trailer nor the buildings were camouflaged. About 20 regular army soldiers were in the area. No power lines, vehicles, searchlights, antiaircraft guns, or other antennas were in the area. Tire tracks were visible on the muddy road that led from the site to the highway northeast of the site near Huangchia (approximately N 29-53-08, E 121-53-36).
